The main base of mineral motor oil is crude oil and it is usually used in old cars, and due to their production process, they have a very short life in the engine, and the only advantage it has over other existing oils is that it is cheap.

Flushing oil is a washing oil for gasoline and diesel engines. This oil works effectively in changing from a lower quality product to an improved quality product. It is also very suitable if the engine oil contains a lot of condensed water, coolant, fuel dilution or white sludge.
